DETAILED ACTION

Specification

Applicant is reminded of the proper language and format for an abstract of the disclosure.

The abstract should be in narrative form and generally limited to a single paragraph on a separate sheet within the range of 50 to 150 words. It is important that the abstract not exceed 150 words in length since the space provided for the abstract on the computer tape used by the printer is limited. The form and legal phraseology often used in patent claims, such as "means" and "said," should be avoided. The abstract should describe the disclosure sufficiently to assist readers in deciding whether there is a need for consulting the full patent text for details.

The language should be clear and concise and should not repeat information given in the title. It should avoid using phrases which can be implied, such as, "The disclosure concerns," "The disclosure defined by this invention," "The disclosure describes," etc.

The lengthy specification has not been checked to the extent necessary to determine the presence of all possible minor errors. Applicant's cooperation is requested in correcting any errors of which applicant may become aware in the specification.

The disclosure is objected to because of the following informalities:

Numerous instances of apparent subtitles in parenthesis are throughout the disclosure.

A "supplement" is included at the end of the disclosure that includes claim like language. It should be removed.

The disclosure provides detail of moving the optics and moving the image device, but not moving both as in claim 3.

Appropriate correction is required.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

The following is a quotation of the first paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall contain a written description of the invention, and of the manner and process of making and using it, in such full, clear, concise, and exact terms as to enable any person skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and use the same and shall set forth the best mode contemplated by the inventor of carrying out his invention.

Art Unit: 3739

✓ Claim 3 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, as containing subject matter which was not described in the specification in such a way as to enable one skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and/or use the invention. The combination of moving both the optics and image device is not enabled by the disclosure. Movement of either the optic or image device is straightforward to alter the distance between the two for proper focus. Moving both to achieve focus is not straightforward and requires explanation of the structural relationships to effect proper focus.

The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

Claim 4 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

Regarding claim 4, the term "an engagement length of a frame" is unclear as written. What does the frame engage? Is the imaging device mounted on the frame?

Claim 4 recites the limitation "the imaging surface" in line 2. There is insufficient antecedent basis for this limitation in the claim.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in-

(1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effect under this subsection of a national application published under section 122(b) only if the international application designating the United States was published under Article 21(2)(a) of such treaty in the English language; or

Art Unit: 3739

(2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that a patent shall not be deemed filed in the United States for the purposes of this subsection based on the filing of an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a).

Claim 1 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by U.S. Patent 6,398,724 to May et al. May et al teaches a sealed imaging system for use with an endoscope with optical elements (Fig. 4, # 346) and a CCD imaging device (Fig. 3, # 345) that are hermetically sealed. The imaging device is movable in relation to the optic elements from outside the sealed portion using a focus ring (Fig. 3, # 362).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 2 and 5 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over U.S. Patent 6,398,724 to May et al in view of U.S. Patent 5,577,991 to Akui et al. May et al is discussed above, however, does not disclose lateral or rotational adjustment of the imaging device. Akui et al teaches drive mechanisms for vertical, lateral and rotational adjustment of an imaging device (Col. 10, lines 3-18). It would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to include the eccentricity adjustment of the imaging device as taught by Akui et al in the invention of May et al to provide a mechanical alternative to the electronic adjustment for image centering on the imaging device.

Conclusion

The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. U.S. Patent 6,346,073 to Thompson discloses an imaging unit that is sealed at one end that includes optics and a CCD imaging device for use with an endoscope. U.S. Patent 5,868,664 to Speier et al teaches a sterilizable, sealed unit with an imaging device and filter that engages with a separate optics element. U.S. Patent 5,706,143 to Hipp teaches the use of magnets to adjust elements within a sealed area.

Art Unit: 3739
